

I believe that the no call list should stay as it is. It has been very effective so far. The fewer unsolicited calls the better. As a consumer I purchase itmes and subscribe to publications that I have researched. I definitely do not like to be pestered at all times of day. I wish that this could be extended to junk mail as well.